Volume 65, Issue 5

I have wondered sometimes what it would have been like to have been able to live at the time Adam and Eve first did. To live with no sorrows, pain, trials, or sin. But then reality sets in and I suddenly remember that I don't and that this life can be tough.

There have been days that I just wanted to push the reset button and start all over and then there are other days that the trouble just seems to beat me down until I don't even know how I will get through it all.

But then I remember the scripture above that tells me that troubles will come and the hardships will try to run amuck through the pages of my life. But I also remember that God has told me to take heart, because He has overcome the world.

That phrase, "take heart", means to be brave or have peace. But how can God expect us to have peace in moments that are far from peaceful, you might ask?

We can have peace because the power of the world was defeated when Jesus went to the Cross. He broke and defeated the power of sin and death. He brought true life and insured that the trials, sorrow and even death would not have the final say.

So, in the middle of sorrows and trials, we can take heart and have peace. Not because things are easy, but because the hard things of this life are temporary. Our peace is not in the absence of pain or troubles, but it is found in knowing Jesus!

In Christ,
Pastor Phil

Greetings from the WMU

Mission matters most. On May 14, WMU celebrates 134 years of commitment to missions. WMU's focus has been to make disciples of Jesus who live on mission.

Lottie Moon understood the importance of mission matters most. She wrote in one of her many letters, "How many there are...who imagine that because Jesus paid it all, they need pay nothing, forgetting that the prime object of their salvation was that they should follow in the footsteps of Jesus Christ in bringing back a lost world to God." For her, mission really did matter most.

West Hampton has a great legacy of missions. Through the years we have sent teams all over the world to share the good news of Jesus Christ. Prayerfully consider how you can live on mission in your daily life.

Glory to God,
Margaret Langley
