Volume 67, Issue 6

We seem to live in a society that tells us we have all the time in the world to live our lives. As we see from the words of Paul, in Romans that time is something we are not promised.

Romans 13:11a - "This is all the more urgent, for you know how late it is; time is running out."

We have all seemed to learn to live in the "I can do it tomorrow" mentality. Since life tends to be crazy with the busyness of life, we tend to put off things that are truly important... in hopes that our yesterday's aren't our only days.

We say things like; "When life slows down, I will visit my mom and dad more"... "When I find more time, I will spend it with my children"... "When I make all the money, I want I will spend more time with God"... "When I retire, I will begin telling others about God; serving God fully."

But, as we have seen over the past couple years, our tomorrows are never assured. God has only given each of us an unknown portion of time to spend on earth. I believe that if we really understood this fully, we would live our lives with more urgency... we would truly live our lives like there were no tomorrow.

In the wake of the turmoil and struggles of this life, let us make a decision to begin living life with urgency and purpose. Let us live, from here on, realizing the time indeed is short and precious. Let us live our lives, making the most of them, in the light of understanding that it might just be our last.

In Christ,
Pastor Phil

Summer is a time for mission trips, summer camps, and family vacations. Each one provides a unique opportunity to share our hope in Christ with others. We have a team of fifteen traveling to Standing Rock next month. You can support the team through prayer and gift cards. Pray for our youth who will attend camp. Find creative ways to use family vacations as an opportunity to share the good news.

On Wednesday, June 12th at 6:15pm we will recognize our Children in Action and Mission Friends. Our theme this year has been Faithful Builders. Please come to support our kids mission education.
